'Abd al-Laṭīf al-Baġdādī's Philosophical Journey

From Aristotle's Metaphysics to the 'Metaphysical Science'

Cecilia Martini Bonadeo, University of Pisa

Although the philosopher 'Abd al-Laṭīf al-Baġdādī (1162 -1231) received an extensive education in the thought of Avicenna, he still journeyed long in search of true philosophy. It was in Cairo that he finally discovered a model of philosophical metaphysics rooted in Greek thought as set out in Kindian and Farabian writings. This volume is devoted to the study of Aristotle's Metaphysics and other Greek metaphysical writing gathered together by this Muslim philosopher to form a 'Metaphysical Science' in his Book of the Science of Metaphysics (Kitāb fī 'ilm mā ba'd al-ṭabī'a).

READERSHIP:

All interested in the Greek - Arabic studies, and anyone concerned with the Arabic reception of Greek Philosophy and Aristotle's Metaphysics, in particular in the post Avicennian age.
